License transfer on Computer Exchange

De-Activation of a SofKey-License

Preliminary note

A soft key license contains two elements: A ProductKey and an ActivationKey. The ProductKey is necessary when you install DpuScan. It carries the license type and has to be typed in on the first start of DpuScan. Beginning with this you have some days to activate the software permanently. The license, you purchased is valid for exactly one computer. This type of license is not recommended if you have the need to use the license dynamically on different computers.
